This narrow-bodied American-made violin is an especially nice-sounding ¾ size violin. When originally purchased, this violin was compared to several other new and used German and high-quality Chinese-made violins, and this one was judged to have the best tone.

This violin was used to compete with and win prizes in many local, state, and national fiddle contests. It was also played on stage in many classical and fiddle music performances.

This is a good violin for any level of student violin player. For the beginner, it produces a good tone that will encourage the student to play and practice more. For the advanced student or performer, it gives a winning sound at any performance or contest.
